"I just received the samples this morning. Utterly brilliant. The finest capture of the natural acoustic I have ever heard". - Howard Popeck, SIMPLY STAX, UK

"Wonderful recording - you have captured the airy and spacious acoustic perfectly, there is lovely delicacy in the treble and the mids are liquid; in short, very very analogue." - Mike Kontor, designer of NotePerfect Loudspeakers.

"I do love Mercury Living Presence recordings and I thought that the sound was impossible to get again, now you did it!" - Vincenzo Fratello, SAP, Nagra Italy.

"In essence, it's audio 'vanity publishing': Metaxas has issued a disc of recordings from his own archives. But the results will simply astound you". Ken Kessler, Hi Fi News & Record Review.

1. Anita Hustas Trio, BMW EDGE, Melbourne 2005

1 X 33min Master Tape

Anita Hustas specializes in improvising double bass performance and composition. Anita draws from music from many diverse cultures, and influences from many art forms. Her main ensembles are Anemone with Joe Talia and Anthony Schulz, and the Bywater-Hustas Duo with Phil Bywater. She performs and tours regularly with a wide variety of other ensembles including The Adam Simmons Toyband, Koffer, Peter Knight's 5+2, David Tolley, Dure Dara, Ren Walters and Collider. Anita's work has also been performed by Adrian Sherriff's Oynsemble, The Sandy Evans Project, Phil Bywater's Buried Treasure, and Adam Simmons Toy Band. Solo performances include La Mama Musica, The Boite Winter Music Festival, The Make It Up Club, Port Fairy Folk Festival and Woodford Festival. Anita is currently in her first year of Masters in Performance, Improvisation and Composition at the VCA. She lectures in Double Bass in both the Repertoire and Improvisation Streams and teaches at most of Melbourne's tertiary institutions. Anita was awarded an Art Omi fellowship for July/August 2005, assisted by the Australia Council for the Arts to take up a composer/performer artist residency in New York. In 2003 Anita received an Australia Council commission to compose "Music of the Trees" a graphic score for Oynsemble Melbourne, which premiered in January 2004. Anita has also just completed a new collection of graphic scores on "Water" for Anemone, premiered in November 2007. She has performed with most major Australian artists in the fields of Improvisation, Jazz and Classical music. Anita is an in demand session musician performing on countless film scores and many other projects too numerous to mention. She is currently curating the La Mama Musica concert series with Adrian Sherriff, Annabel Warmington and Bree Hartley.

2-3. Andrea Keller - Jazz Ensemble, BMW EDGE, 2005 Tapes 1&2

Andrea Keller on Piano - 2X 33 min Master Tapes

With strong influences from Keith Jarrett's 1980's work, MCA Freedman Fellowship winner pianist/composer Andrea Keller won her first ARIA [Australian equivalent of a GRAMMY] in 2002. This was followed with her CD, Thirteen Sketches where Keller also won both the 2003 ARIA Award and inaugural Bell Award for Best Jazz Album for her Bartok Project's Mikrokosmos CD (on ABC). The personnel of Eugene Ball (trumpet), Ian Whitehurst (tenor sax) and Joe Talia (drums) performed material from the quartet's 2005 ARIA nominated album 'Angels and Rascals' on the ABC.

"Ingenious compositions, Keller is a fine technician and fiery improviser who can also withdraw into a soft-focus world of dreams, impressions and confessions." - John Shand, The Sydney Morning Herald, February 23-24, 2002. "Keller joins the more creative writers for this instrumentation worldwide." - John Clare, MCA Music Forum, Oct-Nov, 2001.

4-5. Aaron Choulai Trio at BENNETTS LANE, Melbourne 2005, Tapes 1-2

Aaron Choulai on Piano - 2 X 33min Master Tape

Aaron Choulai was "discovered" by NY's Tim Ries (saxophone on Rolling Stones Tours)

Aaron was born in Papua New Guinea in 1982. His early years were spent playing in the village, fishing, eating mangos, coconuts and mud crabs. At an early age Aaron was exposed to a wide range of music from traditional Motuan mourning chants, to the songs sung around the table at Passover, to Beethoven, Brahms and Bach played to him by his grandfather. At the age of 12, Aaron was living in Melbourne, and discovered the blues. Within a year he was playing piano regularly in blues clubs around Melbourne with some of Melbourne's finest players: Paul Neuendorf, Andy Baylor and Ian Collard. Aaron also played regularly in the trio of legendary drummer, Allan Browne at Bennetts Lane Jazz Club featuring Aaron's original compositions. It was at Bennetts Lane in early 2003 that New York saxophonist Tim Ries, in Melbourne for the Rolling Stones tour, discovered Aaron playing. Tim was so impressed that they played together in Melbourne and Tim encouraged Aaron to come to New York to record with some of New York's finest jazz players, James Genus (bass), Clarence Penn (drums) and Scott Wendholdt (trumpet). Aaron travelled to New York, writing tunes for the occasion based on his impressions of that city.

10-11. Adam Simmons - Jazz Quartet at BMW EDGE, Melbourne, Tapes 1 & 2

Adam Simmons on Saxophone - 2 X 33min Master Tape

"Simmons is a monster!" - Robert Spencer, Cadence Magazine (USA), Dec 2000

"Fabulous and intense double sax and drums trio [New Blood] from Australia featuring baritone sax wonder Adam Simmons from our favorite down under band [Bucketrider]" -Bruce Gallanter, Downtown Music Gallery, New York 9/6/01

"Simmons' sax has all the fire of youth, humour and inventiveness, and provides some great listening." - Leon Gettler, The Age 21/11/96

"Simmons is as readily combustible as rocket fuel" - John Shand, The Sydney Morning Herald 3/10/00

Freshly returned from 3 months in New York and Poland (after receiving the Special Award from MCA-Freedman Foundation in 2004), Simmons (multiple saxes, flutes, Shakuhachi and the Slavic Fajara) re-unites with all-original ASQ members Andrew Ogburn (piano) Simon Starr (bass) and Matt Earl (drums) for some feisty and delicate music.

13. DiSario Hopkins Gander - Jazz Trio, Paper Hat, at BMW EDGE, Melbourne Tape 1

DiSario-bass Hopkins-piano Gander-drums- 1 X 33min Master Tape

"By definition, free improvisation can be anything. Strange then, that many practitioners eschew the options of tonality, rhythm and coherent melody. Not Melbourne's Paper Hat. Pianist Colin Hopkins, bassist Frank DiSario and drummer Andrew Gander went into the studio last winter with no plans or preconceptions and spontaneously composed nine "conversations" of arresting lyricism and radiance.

They spend no time hunting for ideas, collectively zeroing in on the first statement of a piece and grabbing it by the throat - however delicately. A quarter of the time is spent by the opening Requiem, 17 minutes of such sadness as the bereaved know only too well, intensified by peculiar beauty that can hover over sadness like a halo, heightening perception. The cohesion is startling, and all three make their most potent recorded statements to date, the whole comparing favorably with the Keith Jarrett Trio's brief return to free improvisation a few years ago".
- John Shand, The Sydney Morning Herald, 13/06/2006

14. Aaron Searle - Jazz Quintet, BMW EDGE, Melbourne, 2005, Tape 1

1 X 33min Master Tape

Saxophonist Aaron Searle has been a professional musician in Melbourne for the past decade. He performs regularly with well known Australian bands such as The Pearly Shells, The Grand Wazoo and Grupo Bahia, and has appeared with legends of the Australian musical theatre such as Rhonda Burchmore, Chloë Dallimore, Marina Prior, Marty Fields, and Peter Cousins. Aaron performs on all saxophones, flutes and clarinets and composes music has been described as possessing "beautiful poise and vitality". (The Age)

Aaron's debut CD Over Nine Waves was released in 2004 to critical acclaim. The Australian Financial Review says, "Searle plays superbly - most musicians would be happy simply to deploy such fine tenor sax as he plays, but he offers much more than that." (Shane Nichols)

15-16. Jenny Game Lopata Quintet, BMW EDGE, Melbourne
2005, Tapes 1&2

2 X 33min Master Tapes

With improvisation qualifications from the Victorian College of the Arts and armed with a composition masters from Monash University, Jenny Game-Lopata is a formidable talent in the Melbourne jazz scene, performing her own works, playing soprano and tenor saxophones as well as leading her own ensemble. Jenny formed the Jenny Game Quartet (as it was then known) in 1993 to perform her original contemporary jazz compositions. Since then, she has managed and lead the ensemble on tenor and soprano saxophones. "a very capable a versatile saxophonist ... she presented her own tunes and showed originality in thought and technique through a range from blues to funky bop." -Michael Foster, The Canberra Times. "Game's tenor sax has a breathy silkiness, her soprano a rich sensuality ..." Leon Gettler, The Age 'Green Guide'

 - 7 Sprained Wrist (Barker)
- The Leigh Barker Quintet:
Leigh Barker - Double Bass Al McGrath-Kerr - Drums Matt Boden
- Piano
Eamon McNelis - Trumpet John Felstead - Saxophone

Leigh Barker: Bassist, composer and bandleader Leigh Barker was born and raised in Canberra, where he spent his formative years studying with American bassist Eric Ajaye at the Canberra School of Music. Before his move to Melbourne in 2003, Leigh quickly gained the attention of the more experienced musicians living in Canberra, playing on many occasions with CSM faculty members and internationally renowned musicians Mike Price, Dave Panichi, Colin Hoorweg, John Mackey and Miroslav Bukovsky. In November 2002 he appeared with German/ Australian guitarist Peter O'Mara, playing with an all-star band at Café Side-On in Sydney and Tilleys in Canberra. The move to Melbourne provided much professional experience, with Leigh proving to be a popular accompanist for the cream of the Australian contemporary Jazz scene, frequently appearing with Jamie Oehlers, Dale Barlow, Scott Tinkler, Julien Wilson, Mark and Nichaud Fitzgibbon, Alison Wedding, Heather Stewart and many others. In January 2004 Leigh travelled to the US for five weeks, where he pursued formal studies with bassists Ben Wolfe, Eric Revis and Reginald Veal, as well as spending valuable time with mentors Branford Marsalis and Doug Wamble. Last year Leigh collaborated with celebrated pianist Tom Vincent on the soundtrack for the hit ABC television program 'The Collectors', which airs on Friday nights. Vincent and Barker discovered an immediate rapport which culminated in a six-week tour early in 2006 with the Tom Vincent Trio, with pianist Vincent and Netherlands based drummer, Marc Meader.

"...strong tunes and accomplished improvisation kept the appreciative audience with them every step of the way." - Helen Saunders, Muse arts magazine.

"Y'all swinging! Australia in the house...that first tune is killin', my man." - Doug Wamble, guitarist with the Lincoln Centre Jazz Orchestra.
"...His group made their musical statement in language we could all understand, appreciate and enjoy... They knew about the blues and knew how to swing and swing hard they did when they had to." - Murray Lavelle, North West Jazz Action Society.

18-19. Darrin Archer Jazz Trio [+ Female Vocalist Alison Wedding on 2 tracks] at BMW EDGE, Melbourne, 2006, Tape 1&2

2 X 33min Master Tapes

Darrin Archer has gained a reputation as a formidable pianist and composer both in Melbourne and Sydney. Originally from Melbourne, he studied jazz piano with Mike Nock and Judy Bailey at the N.S.W. Conservatorium of Music. Since then he worked with many leading artists, as well as bands under his own name. Archer has recorded various albums under other leaders, and released his own debut album of originals. "Archer's instrumental tunes tend to have a strong melodic focus, with moods ranging from gentle lyricism to spikily energetic swing." Jessica Nicholas, The Age Darrin has recorded various albums under other leaders, including an album recorded in Copenhagen, Denmark, as part of S.A.J.A. (the Scandinavian Australian Jazz Alliance). He won the Jazz Action Society Composition competition in 1996, and was a finalist in the 2003 MusicOz songwriting competition (Jazz Category). Darrin has also written the music for short films such as "Karaoke" (by Luke Eve: he was the winner of Tropfest 2005), and "Apprentice" (Dustin Fenely).

20-21. Diane Peters Ensemble at 45 Downstairs, Melbourne 2005, Tape 1&2 (Jazz Harp)

2 X 33min Master Tapes

"original songs without words and jazz"

Before successfully basing herself in Italy over the past few years, harpist and vocalist Diane Peters was well-known to Melbourne audiences as leader of Archaeopteryx, and her string ensemble 66 Strings, as well as performing with other artists such as Christine Sullivan. In Italy she has recorded for Blue Note jazz artist Nicola Conte in 2006 and 2007, as well as leading her own ensembles. On this visit she is undertaking a small tour with Italy's Maria Vicentini (viola), a jazz graduate from Verona, who works with Ettore Martin. For this performance they will be joined by acoustic bassist Tamara Murphy in a Trio to perform "original songs without words and jazz". See harpandsong.com

"Atmospheric pieces characterized by lush textures and shifting time signatures" - Concert review, Jessica Nicholas, The Age

Diane has developed an original style of playing and composition, performing solo and in diverse combinations, in Melbourne, Australia, Italy and Internationally. Her CD of original music, Diane Peters ARCHAEOPTERYX, received exceptional reviews and comments followed by invitations abroad.

...In the 21st century Jazz is a mature art form; hence, its very seldom that something new, fresh and individual comes along... James Morrison.

...The harp may seem incongruous addition to a jazz ensemble but once this recording begins preconceptions cease to be an issue... The Australian 2001. Inspired by the music of Alice Coltrane and encouraged by Australian Jazz legend Mark Simmonds, Peters wove her way into the field of jazz harp. Then studied at the VCA jazz course 95-97 meeting like minded musicians to play with. Diane has found that composition is also a useful mode of developing the place for harp in jazz considering the open stage for ideas. It has been musicians on other instruments, (colleagues and teachers) taking an interest in this alluring instrument with its possibilities and limitations, that have given Diane the possibility to experiment and forge a path. Along with producing her own music, Diane has worked with major artists (recordings and live performances) including Bob Sedergreen, Paul Grabowsky, Scezary Scubizewski, Christine Sullivan, Steven Cummings and Angie Hart and Nicola Conte.

25-26. PASCAL SCHUMACHER [Belgium], ORMOND HALL, Melbourne, 2004 Tapes 1 & 2

Piano, Bass, Drums - 1 X 33min Master Tape

Pascal Schumacher starts his studies as a percussionist at the classical music department of the Conservatoire de Musique de la Ville de Luxembourg (L) and obtains the Prix Supérieur in 1999. From 1997 on he studies with jazz vibraphone player Guy Cabay, first at the jazz department of the Conservatoire de Luxembourg, where he obtains the Prix Supérieur with distinction in 2001, later at the jazz department of the Conservatoire Royal de Bruxelles (B), where he obtains a bachelor degree in June 2003. In 2005 he graduates then at Koninklijk Conservatorium of The Hague (NL) with Frits Landesbergen (master). He also receives a master's degree of musicology at the Université Marc Bloch de Strasbourg (F) in 2002. Pascal also followed master classes and workshops with Gary Burton, Mike Manieri, David Friedman, Stefon Harris, Franck Tortiller, Wolfgang Lackerschmid, Jean Geoffroy, Charles Loos, Scott Prebys... In 1995, he co-founds the ensemble Interchange with saxophonist Nadine Kauffmann. In 1998, he receives the „IKB Jugend-Förderpreis“. In 1999, he is laureate of the Prix Norbert Stelmes des Jeunesses Musicales Luxembourg. In 2001, he is cofounder of the experimental percussion group Stroke X. From 2001 to 2003 he co-leads Greg Lamy - Pascal Schumacher Quartet. In 2004, Pascal Schumacher wins with his quartet the First Prize as well as the Public Prize at the famous Tremplin Jazz Avignon (F). In October 2005, Pascal receives the Belgium Jazz Trophy Django d'Or in the category "New Talent".

27-28. Fritz Hauser - Swiss Drum Legend at BMW EDGE, Melbourne, Tapes 1&2

Fritz Hauser on Drums + Speak Percussion Ensemble - 2 X 33min Master Tape

"Hauser is simply one of the best drummers alive; when he's finished with one of his improvised concerts, you leave with a new understanding of his drum's anatomy, their exact range of sound"

- THE NEW YORK TIMES

Based in Basel, Switzerland, Fritz has toured the world, playing at festivals and presenting concerts in Europe, Canada, the USA, the Middle East, China, the Baltic States, Russia, Kirgistan, Japan and Australia. In-residence in all schools of the Victorian College of the Arts in late September, Fritz will be playing and improvising on concert with Speak; together in concert for M nage they will present Double Exposition, Fritz's most important work. Fritz Hauser and Speak Percussion have a long personal association; their artistic partnership is borne out of close personal regard for each other. Join them for an evening of unforgettable percussion. Along with Double Exposition, they will also be playing the World Premiere performance of Sea of Tranquility, by Melbournian composer Stuart Greenbaum, works by Mark Pollard, Frank Zappa and Balanescu, arranged by B A Jones and Mark Pollard. This concert will be designed by acclaimed Swiss architect Boa Baumann. Experience a rare collaboration between some of the world's finest artists, musical and visual. Fritz Hauser "shouldn't on any account be missed" Richard Cook & Brian Morton (Penguin Book Guide to Jazz)

Speak have become Melbourne's best percussion ensemble. They are strong supporters of new music and have appeared in everything from experimental hybrid-arts projects to regular music festival concerts. Speak has collaborated with choreographers, installation artists and dancers and has commissioned many new percussion works by local and international composers. Their concerts are among the most exciting you will ever experience in Melbourne. As individual players the members of Speak Percussion are highly renowned artists and pedagogues. As an ensemble, they will set both your heart and your ears on fire.

"Pianist/composer Mike Nock has remained at the forefront of Australasian Jazz, continuing to attract critical acclaim and delight audiences worldwide. His extensive background in a variety of genres with many of the world's top musicians (from Johnny O'Keefe to Dionne Warwick, Lionel Hampton, Michael Brecker) give his live performances a rarely heard breadth and depth. Returning to Australia in 1985 after 25 years in the USA, Mike is now recognized as one of the greats of Australian Jazz. He has returned to his original trio format several times in his lengthy career to record some outstanding examples of the genre. The current Mike Nock Trio embraces the past as it looks to the future, building on Mike's tradition of introducing some of the country's most exciting young jazz talents to a wider audience. Both bassist/composer Mike Majkowski and drummer James Waples are now enjoying great popularity on the local jazz scene Piano maestro and winner of this year's ARIA jazz award, Mike Nock led his trio in a dazzling performance at the Wangaratta Festival of Jazz " John McBeath, The Australian, November 2007.

"Pianist Mike Nock plunged head-first into the white hot waters of free improvisation with mischievous bassist Mike Majkowski and drummer James Waples, maintaining that freedom, beauty and playfulness on the composed material " John Shand, Sydney Morning Herald.

"Having heard Nock's music for many years ,and being aware of his genius as a composer, arranger and player, I found it amazing to hear him perform live for the first time. He proved he could build from a platform , adding layers and textures , working with minimalism, classical, jazz and noiresque soundscapes to show that many colours can be conjured from the keys of a piano " Simon Sweetman, The Dominion Post (Wellington NZ), November 2007.

They ride, white knuckled, into testing, dramatic terrain, and do so with a pungency you can taste...this is one of the finest working bands in the land. Their art is dense, black and majestic. But so is it thrillingly lyrical.' Craig N. Pierce, The Drum Media, 16 Feb, '99, review of Fridays, Late ' The seamless way they combine, whichever member is taking the lead, reflects the benefits of the regular work so many local bands find elusive. Saarelaht's piano playing is brilliant...' Adrian Jackson, The Age '...some world class jazz piano providing a solid basis for the band...' The Guardian, London, re Kate Ceberano and her Sextet In 1986 Jex formed his own six-piece band, the Jextet, which played a year long residency at the Baden Powell Hotel, supported Dizzy Gillespie at Melbourne's Dallas Brookes Hall, and recorded a forty minute feature for ABC Television's Rock Arena, the first, and possibly only jazz band to do so.

One of three regulars, Jex played solo piano on an average of two nights a week for over four years at Mietta's, Melbourne. At Mietta's instigation he also presented a number of concerts dubbed "Jex and Friends", (an idea later taken up by the Age Melbourne International Jazz Festival), and his trio was selected to be the support act for legendary jazz vocalist Betty Carter's performance there in June '95. Residing in London, June '87 to July '88, Jex played a year long solo piano residency, as well as presenting his trio with Steve Rose, bass, and Winston Clifford, drums, at the original Jazz Café, Newington Green. Spending the last three months of 1995 in New York, Jex took formal lessons with Joanne Brackeen and Don Friedman, among others, and lessons by way of example from Geri Allen, Kenny Barron, John Hicks, Cedar Walton, Marilyn Crispell, Bobby Hutcherson, Dr. John, the Meters, the Skatalites.

In addition to many and various festivals and venues all around Australia, Jex has performed at: Ronnie Scotts, London, The Marquee Club, London, The North Sea Jazz Festival, The Edinburgh Festival, The Jazz Café, London, Southbank, London, The Aarhus International Jazz Festival, Denmark, Quasimodo Jazz Club, Berlin, The Four Seasons, Crete, The Birmingham International Jazz Festival, Midem, the international music trade fair held in Cannes and other venues in England, Germany, Holland, Paris, New York, Los Angeles, Noumea, Papua New Guinea and New Zealand.

Recipient of the Gibson-May award in the 2006 London International Jazz Competition, expatriate American vocalist Alison Wedding has built an impressive reputation among both musicians and the public in the years she has been based here, with many weekends residencies at Bennetts Lane. Originally from Ohio, Alison's album 'The Secret' won the 'Best Jazz Vocal Album' at the 2004 Bell Awards. One of her career highlights was singing with the One O'clock Lab Band with the late Gerry Mulligan. After receiving her bachelor's degree, she spent a summer at Epcot in Florida, singing in the show Swingin' Summer Nights, where she had the opportunity to sing with an amazing line up of singers such as Dianne Reeves, Diane Schuur, and the late Joe Williams. Alison then decided to move to the west coast to develop her career. While in Los Angeles, Alison performed professionally, both live and in the studio. She toured as a back-up singer with Kevyn Lettau, and recorded with artists such as Andy Summers (formerly of The Police) on his CD Peggy's Blue Sklight. Since her national tour, Alison was invited to sing with Tim Ries (saxophone player with The Rolling Stones) at the 2004 Melbourne International Jazz Festival.

1 X 33min Master Tape

Belinda Moody is a Victorian College of the Arts graduate and passionate jazz bassist and composer who has gained much international experience living at home and abroad over the past 20 years. Those home bases have included Melbourne, Amsterdam, Singapore and since 2003, Tokyo.

This has afforded her the opportunity to perform with many extraordinary musicians including: Alan Lee, Jex Saarelaht, Luluk Purwanto and Rene Van Helsdingen, Han Bennik, Tobias Delius, Jeremy Monteiro, Terumasa Hino, James Moody, Ernie Watts, Carmen Bradford and Christine Sullivan. It featured some of Melbourne's finest talent in Ronny Ferella, Peter Jones, Julien Wilson, Nadjé Noordhuis and Michelle Nicolle. Last settled in Japan,(2003) Belinda made new connections with some of the finest musicians in the country while still maintaining an international agenda. Regular trips to Thailand to perform with the Jeremy Monteiro Trio and special guests continue as do recordings with the trio. "Epic Whispers" is a new project led by Belinda Moody, joining the sympathetic vibration of strings, wood and voices, the harmony of ideas and emotions, the charm of telling tales. A rhythm section, string quartet and voices weave their way through a set of arrangements and compositions by Belinda Moody and Steve Smith.

43. ZULYA KAMALOVA "SOLO" at BMW EDGE, Melbourne, Tape 1, 2005

1 X 26min Master Tape

Multi award-winning ZULYA KAMALOVA is the leading proponent of Tatar music in Australia as well as one of the most versatile and accomplished vocalists on the world music scene today. A native of Volga-Kama region of Central Russia, ZULYA began performing Russian and Tatar songs at the age of 9.

Later she studied music and languages at university level. Inspired by the diversity of cultures, she made a dramatic decision to settle in Australia in 1991 and began to not only share her traditional music with Australians, but to explore the musical and linguistic riches of the multitude of cultures living in Australia. As a result, ZULYA has developed a totally original approach as an affirmation of her unique identity - an affirmation that takes her Tatar and Russian background to totally new places and in completely new ways.

Zulya has independently produced four albums to date, including the ARIA-nominated elusive (2002) and, together with her band The Children of the Underground, 2004's magical The Waltz of Emptiness (and Other Songs on Russian Themes). Although she is well-known in Australia, Zulya's performances of her gorgeous blend of traditional and original music have recently been enchanting audiences from Serbia to Siberia, Luxembourg to Moscow, Tatarstan to Helsinki and almost everywhere in between.

'These boys love cricket but they come on and they're absolutely transformed, the music just takes over...I defy anybody to come into this hall this morning and hear those boys playing that Shostakovich and not become excited and moved and addicted to chamber music for the rest of their lives.'

William Lyne (Artistic director of Wigmore Hall, 1966-2002) -ABC Classic FM 02/07/05

Amir Farid - Piano, Lachlan Bramble - Violin, Ewen Bramble

'The Benaud Trio...stood out with their keen sense of musical understanding. They brought plenty of character to Beethoven's Piano Trio Op.1 No.2, with finely nuanced phrasing and good balance. The same sense of ensemble carried through their performance of the Shostakovich piano trio, especially in the fourth movement where they built wave upon wave of sound, before ending with an exquisite broken pizzicato chord. A risky gesture, but perfectly executed.' Martin Ball - The Australian 05/07/05.

The Benaud Trio rose to national prominence after winning the prestigious Piano Trio prize at the 2005 Australian Chamber Music Competition. The Benaud's have been playing together in various duo and trio combinations over the last three years. The Trio members share many common interests including a love for chamber music, Chinese food and an eagerness to break out the cricket bat at any opportunity. Between them, the members of the Benaud Trio have accumulated an impressive number of chamber music awards and have studied with numerous prominent musicians and ensembles including: the Takacs Quartet, the Henschel Quartet, the Petersen Quartet, Mark Mogilevski, Marco van Pagee and William Hennessy. Performances by the Benaud Trio have been broadcast nationwide on ABC Classic FM and Radio National and in Melbourne on 3MBS FM. The group has also been the subject of mini-documentaries produced for ABC television's 'The Final Countdown' and Channel Ten's 'Totally Wild'. 1. 'Spiritus sanctus' Hildegard of Bingen 12thC,- 'Karitas habundat' - 'Ote to Stavro' / "o Quando im Cruce' Beneventan Chant 7thC.

2 ' Akathistos Fragments' 6thC excerpt from larger work.

3 'Dolorum Solatium' Peter Abelard 12thC.

Jouissance was formed in 1993 to explore a dialogue between Medieval and Byzantine chant, and contemporary culture. The musicians share a fascination with the mysticism, sensuality and rapture found in the works of Hildegard of Bingen, Peter Abelard and the Byzantine Rite.

"Near Divine. Jouissance is an ensemble which embodies a feeling... of primal ecstasy." Sydney Morning Herald, 14/3/02

'.....the night's instrumental beauties came in the unpredictable passages: the breathy elliptical Japanese flute work of Norman, Tsiavos' wide-ranging bass support, and the assortment of gongs, metal sheets and cymbals that Neville applied to the texture: subtle ornamentation of the ensemble's solid and daring structure.' Clive O'Connell" The Age June 2003

"The Australians charm with their originality. ...the music disappears between the two worlds of reality and unreality. The musicians were able to perfectly convey the archaic ether, their ecstasy became a part of the audience." - Toomas Kuter, Parnu Postimees, Estonia 13/8/99. Translated by Taavi Piibemann.

Natsuko studied violin from the age of 11 at the Yehudi Menuhin School under Lord Menuhin and Wen Zhou Li. She received scholarships at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and the Royal Northern College of Music in Manchester and won the Gold Medal on the 1994 Shell/London Symphony Orchestra.

Brisbane-born James attended the Yehudi Menuhin School in England in his early teens, later studying at the Royal Northern College of Music in Manchester. His principal teachers were Lord Menuhin, Wen Zhou Li and Gyorgy Kurtág. James has won numerous awards for both performance and composition including First Prize in the Charles Hennen International Chamber Music Competition in Holland.

Jeremy graduated from the Guildhall School of Music and Drama with distinction, where he studied with David Takeno before becoming the youngest violinist accepted by the London Symphony Orchestra. He has performed under conductors such as Abbado, Svetlanov, Previn and Celibidache and performed regularly with the Academy of St Martin in the Fields and London Sinfonietta.

“playing of unstinting enthusiasm and energy” The Australian, 7 November 2006 “with credentials firmly established, the Grainger Quartet performed with assured style and let rip with the exuberant String Quartet in D Major, opus 44, No. 1 by Mendelssohn” Sydney Morning Herald, 7 November 2006

Churches are renowned for their exquisite acoustics and musical traditions. Collins St Baptist Church is no different in hosting some of Australia’s finest musicians - the Grainger Quartet - in their Melbourne concert season. Characteristic of Grainger Quartet’s distinctive style, the 2004 concert is a landmark of classic performance, enhanced by the marvelous acoustic of the Church.

“We believe that representation of Australian composers and composition is vital to the lifeblood of our musical heritage,” said James Cuddeford.

55. Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Orchestra & Choir, Melbourne Town Hall - Tape 1

Gordon Kerry's Requiem and part of Faure Requiem conducted by Andrew Wailes

1 x 33 min Master Tape

This is a recording of the REHEARSAL as the sound quality of the Melbourne Town Hall is PERFECT for large orchestra without an audience. The audience robs the recording of it's "bloom" and "air".

Today, the 120-voice Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Choir continues to present critically acclaimed performances to audiences in Melbourne. It is committed to the encouragement and fostering of young musicians, and is recognized by many as Melbourne's premier symphonic choir. The RMP's choristers are strictly auditioned, and are voluntary musicians who share a common love of choral music, and who give their time freely in the pursuit of musical excellence.

... The Royal Melbourne Philharmonic ... under the leadership of Andrew Wailes, outlined the passion of this work with aplomb. The dedicated preparation was obvious on all levels: first-class diction, intonation and vocal power were all abundant.

The Age

The RMP was founded in 1853, by a group of civic leaders and music lovers who wished to bring musical culture of a high standard to the early colony of Victoria. Since that time it has presented performances at many historic occasions and important events in the history of Melbourne. These include the Melbourne International Exhibition of 1880, the Great Centennial Exhibition of 1888, the opening of the First Australian Parliament in 1901, the opening of the Melbourne Town Hall, the 1956 Olympic Games and most recently, the Centenary of Federation celebrations in 2001.

Throughout its long existence, the RMP has consistently presented performances of major choral and orchestral works to great acclaim, often as Australian or Melbourne premieres. Amongst the many works performed for the first time in Australia by the RMP Choir and Orchestra, are Mozart's Requiem, Handel's Israel in Egypt, Bach's St. Matthew Passion, Vivaldi's Gloria, Mendelssohn's Elijah, Dvorak's Stabat Mater, Elgar's The Kingdom and The Spirit of England and Walton's Belshazzar's Feast. In recent times this tradition of innovative programming has continued, with the RMP presenting world premiere performances of works such as From the Beginning by Stuart Greenbaum, Sky Saga and Southern Gloria by Nicholas Buc, Fronting Eternity by Gordon Kerry and Mourning and the Light Within by John Peterson.

Strong on emotion and delivery ... the Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Choir, prepared by Andrew Wailes, was rock solid. In fact, its performance was by far the best presentation I have heard from a Melbourne-based choir this year.

The Age

Handel's great oratorio Messiah has particular significance for the RMP. It first launched the choir in 1853, and has been performed at least once every year since. This unbroken sequence of performances is considered to be a world record.

Throughout its distinguished history, the RMP has boasted many outstanding conductors. These include such figures as Sir Malcolm Sargent, Georg Szell, Sir Thomas Beecham, Sir Granville Bantock, Sir Charles Groves, Sir Eugene Goossens, and Chief Conductors including Alberto Zelman and Sir Bernard Heinze.

All credit, therefore, to the Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Choir and Orchestra... who, under RMP Music Director Andrew Wailes' inspired direction, gave the two-part masterwork a thrilling performance.

The Sunday Herald Sun

In 2003 RMP choristers were flown to Perth, where they participated in the highly acclaimed performance of Schoenberg's Gurrelieder for the Perth International Arts Festival. 2004 concerts included Dona Nobis Pacem by Vaughan Williams, Elgar's For the Fallen, the world premiere of Sky Saga by Nicholas Buc, Mendelssohn's Elijah, and Tchaikovsky's Liturgy of St John Chrysostom. The RMP again performed Gurrelieder, as part of the 2004 Melbourne International Arts Festival, with the MSO and Markus Stenz, and recorded music for The Gordon Assumption, a contemporary sound installation by David Chesworth and Sonia Leber, also for the Melbourne International Arts Festival.

2005 concerts included Rachmaninov's The Bells, Bartok's The Miraculous Mandarin, the Victorian premiere of Peter Sculthorpe's Requiem, the world premiere of Gordon Kerry's Fronting Eternity, Fauré's Requiem, The Last Night of the Proms and Messiah.

56-57. Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Orchestra & Choir, St Patrick's Cathedral, Melbourne - Tapes 1-2

Music for ORGAN, Orchestra, Choir, Soprano, Baritone including ANDREW LLOYD WEBER'S REQUIEM conducted by Andrew Wailes

A REFERENCE RECORDING.

This is a recording of the actual performance, the sound quality of the St Patrick's Cathedral is PERFECT for large orchestra/choir.

2 X 33min Master Tapes

Two of Melbourne's most prestigious arts companies, the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra and the Melbourne Chorale integrated in 2008. Melbourne Symphony Orchestra Chairman Elizabeth Proust said "The relationship between the MSO and the Chorale has grown artistically and operationally over decades. This integration represents a natural evolution of that creative partnership, ensuring audiences continue to enjoy the highest quality choral and orchestral performances."

"Through the integration of the Chorus, greater flexibility and opportunities exist for innovative programming, commissioning of new works and strengthening the Chorus's leadership role in developing the art-form on a national and international level", said Huw Humphreys, MSO Director of Artistic Planning. The integration of orchestra and chorus has its precedence in renowned organisations such as the Chicago Symphony, Cleveland Symphony and the West Australian Symphony orchestras. "In 2008 the MSO Chorus features in six different programs, performing some of the major highlights of next year's season. These include Verdi's Requiem, Wagner's The Flying Dutchman, Enescu's Vox Maris and the Australian premiere of Shostakovich's Thirteenth Symphony Babi Yar under the baton of the MSO's Chief Conductor and Artistic Director Oleg Caetani", said Huw Humphreys.

Today, the 120-voice Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Choir continues to present critically acclaimed performances to audiences in Melbourne. It is committed to the encouragement and fostering of young musicians, and is recognised by many as Melbourne's premier symphonic choir. The RMP's choristers are strictly auditioned, and are voluntary musicians who share a common love of choral music, and who give their time freely in the pursuit of musical excellence.

... The Royal Melbourne Philharmonic ... under the leadership of Andrew Wailes, outlined the passion of this work with aplomb. The dedicated preparation was obvious on all levels: first-class diction, intonation and vocal power were all abundant.

The Age

The RMP was founded in 1853, by a group of civic leaders and music lovers who wished to bring musical culture of a high standard to the early colony of Victoria. Since that time it has presented performances at many historic occasions and important events in the history of Melbourne. These include the Melbourne International Exhibition of 1880, the Great Centennial Exhibition of 1888, the opening of the First Australian Parliament in 1901, the opening of the Melbourne Town Hall, the 1956 Olympic Games and most recently, the Centenary of Federation celebrations in 2001.

Throughout its long existence, the RMP has consistently presented performances of major choral and orchestral works to great acclaim, often as Australian or Melbourne premieres. Amongst the many works performed for the first time in Australia by the RMP Choir and Orchestra, are Mozart's Requiem, Handel's Israel in Egypt, Bach's St. Matthew Passion, Vivaldi's Gloria, Mendelssohn's Elijah, Dvorak's Stabat Mater, Elgar's The Kingdom and The Spirit of England and Walton's Belshazzar's Feast. In recent times this tradition of innovative programming has continued, with the RMP presenting world premiere performances of works such as From the Beginning by Stuart Greenbaum, Sky Saga and Southern Gloria by Nicholas Buc, Fronting Eternity by Gordon Kerry and Mourning and the Light Within by John Peterson.

Strong on emotion and delivery ... the Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Choir, prepared by Andrew Wailes, was rock solid. In fact, its performance was by far the best presentation I have heard from a Melbourne-based choir this year.

The Age

Handel's great oratorio Messiah has particular significance for the RMP. It first launched the choir in 1853, and has been performed at least once every year since. This unbroken sequence of performances is considered to be a world record.

Throughout its distinguished history, the RMP has boasted many outstanding conductors. These include such figures as Sir Malcolm Sargent, Georg Szell, Sir Thomas Beecham, Sir Granville Bantock, Sir Charles Groves, Sir Eugene Goossens, and Chief Conductors including Alberto Zelman and Sir Bernard Heinze.

All credit, therefore, to the Royal Melbourne Philharmonic Choir and Orchestra... who, under RMP Music Director Andrew Wailes' inspired direction, gave the two-part masterwork a thrilling performance.

60. Canada's Les Voix Humaines at Chapel on Chapel, Melbourne, Tape 1

1 X 30 min Master Tape

Their musical complicity has been compared to the skill of two trapeze artists or the telepathic communion of a pair of jazz saxophonists! Susie Napper and Margaret Little, the two gambists of Les Voix Humaines, have been thrilling audiences worldwide with dashing performances of early and contemporary music for viols since 1985. They are renowned for their spectacular arrangements of a wide variety of music for two viols and have become a world reference for the music of Sainte-Colombe. After being awarded a Diapason d'Or for their fourth volume of Sainte-Colombe's Concerts a deux violes esgales, they just received the Opus Award 2007 for PERFORMER OF THE YEAR from the Conseil québécois de la musique.

Les Voix humaines has invited prestigious artists to join them in concert and recordings, such as Wieland and Barthold Kuijken, Charles Daniels, Suzie LeBlanc, Rinat Shaham, Matthew White, Eric Milnes, Skip Sempe and Stephen Stubbs. The duo is regularly joined by some of Montreal's finest young gambists to form the Voix Humaines Consort of viols specializing in the vast 17th-century repertoire for viol consort. They recently recorded Henry Purcell's complete Fantasias for viols.

Les Voix humaines has recorded over 30 discs which have received critical acclaim and prestigious awards (DIAPASON D'OR, Choc du Monde de la Musique, Repertoire-Classica 10, Goldperg 5, Classics Today 10/10, Prix Opus, etc). They include the complete Poeticall Musicke of Tobias Hume, The 4 Seasons of Christopher Simpson, the complete Le Nymphe di Rheno of Johannes Schenck, several discs with soprano Suzie LeBlanc and countertenor Daniel Taylor, a Telemann disc with renowned Belgian flutist Barthold Kuijken and a Marais disc with world famous gambist Wieland Kuijken. Their recording of the complete Concerts a deux violes esgales by Sainte-Colombe (4 double CDs) is a world premiere. Les Voix humaines record for the ATMA label.

The duo has toured in North America, Mexico, Europe, Australia, New Zealand and Israel, performing in prestigious festivals such as Early Music Vancouver, the Festival Internacional Cervantino, the Brighton International Music Festival, the Festival Oude Musiek, Holland, the Boston Early Music Festival, the Summer Festivities of Early Music in Prague and the Israel Festival.

Instruments :

Susie Napper - Barak Norman, London, 1703

Margaret Little - Bernard Prunier and Judith Kraft, Paris, 1982, after Colichon
